

In the Memory of Prof. Dr. Magdy Kotb

On Saturday 2nd of Oct 2021, we lost an eminent professor of the Egyptian Nuclear Medicine: Professor Magdy Hassan Kotb.

Academic and Educational Activities:

- Graduated from Cairo University in 1988, MSc 1993 and MD in Nuclear Medicine in 1999.
- He was a professor of the nuclear medicine unit at NCI Cairo University, 2007 – 2021.
- Nuclear Medicine Consultant in Alsalam international Hospital, Wadi El Nile hospital, Nasser Institute and shark Elmadina Hospital.
- He was sharing in Training course in nuclear medicine by IAEA held in Cairo, 1992.
- He was trained in Nuclear Medicine in the Netherlands Cancer Institute, November 1995 till May 1996.
- He has active participation in the meeting of Arab international atomic energy held in Tunisia in 1997, annual congress of European Association of Nuclear Medicine (EANM) in 1998 and 2006 and 2007, RSNA meeting at 2014.
- He has active participation in the International Training Program for African of Nuclear Medicine organized by International Atomic Energy Agency in Egypt, 2005.

Research and Publications:

- He was supervised 5 MD thesis and 6 MSc thesis.
- He has 12 International publications and 13 Regional activity & Publications.
- He was a Member of Egyptian Society of Nuclear Medicine Specialists (ESNMS), Member of Egyptian Cancer Society and Member of EANM.

Award:

- He has Award from Egyptian Cancer Society for his publications (Gallium-67 citrate, Thallium-201 chloride & Tc-99m Seastamibi to probe chemo-resistance in malignant lymphomas) in 1998.